

A Wedding Wish

Flying in from the coast, I sit back and enjoy the ride
Looking out the window, with nothing on my mind

Heading straight to Baltimore, for one last night of fun
Getting together with Bill and the boys, to party until the night is young

Although we seldom spend time, if you compare it to before
It's still whispered "lock up the women and children first,"
Who knows what those boys have in store.

And when the night is over, and all is said and done
Bill and the boys will be smiling, another night of fun

But when the morning sun brings with it a brand new day
The smiles turn to the realization, that it's time to give a loved one away

Today however isn't the end but the beginning of a new day
And smiles reappear with the thought of new wingman Mary to keep us all from going astray

Congratulations Mary and Bill, we wish you the best together
A life filled with warmth and love and happiness forever

Composition By: FRANK ANTONICELLI

©1990 Be Still Publishing LLC

For non-commercial use only