

Earth Day

There are those in this world
who take for granted.
The beauties of life
placed on this planet.

But nature's gifts
were put on this earth.
For human beings
to enjoy not desert.

And if we continue
at the current destructive pace.
We'll have no one to blame but ourselves
for the extinction of the human race.

So what can we do
we must all come together.
And fight for environmental preservation
not only now but forever.

*Composition By: FRANK ANTONICELLI
©1990 Be Still Publishing LLC*

For non-commercial use only